THE Carolina

From MONDAY December 17th, to M

LONDON, October 30.

The following is the ADDRESS of Lieutenant-General Oglethorpe to his Royal Highneſs the Prince of Wales, on his preſenting the royal charter for incorporating the Society of the Free Britiſh Fiſhery, at Fiſhmonger's-Hall; the 25th of this inſtant.

"May it pleaſe your Royal Highneſs,

THE Parliament paſſed laſt ſeſſions an act for the encouragement of the Britiſh White Herring Fiſhery; in conſequence of which, his Majeſty has been moſt graciouſly pleaſed to grant his royal charter of incorporation, wherein your Royal Highneſs is conſtituted the firſt and preſent governor; and the ſaid charter alſo appoints a preſident, vice-preſident and council.

Permit me, Sir, to preſent this charter to your Royal Highneſs: It bears date the 11th of October, and fixes the firſt general court to be held within thirty days from the date thereof. The preſident, vice-preſident, and council, attend to pay their duty to your Royal Highneſs, and to receive your commands; and at the ſame time that they expreſs their moſt grateful acknowledgments to the King, your royal father, for his moſt gracious favour in granting the charter, they beg leave to return your Royal Highneſs their moſt unfeigned thanks for the high honour which you have done them, in accepting the dignity of governor, and for ſo graciouſly condeſcending to honour them with your royal preſence.

Your Royal Highneſs has, upon all occaſions, ſhewn ſo high a regard for the proſperity of theſe kingdoms in general, and of their commercial intereſts in particular, that this ſociety muſt think themſelves extremely happy in having your Royal Highneſs at their head, and cannot doubt of any aſſiſtance from your royal favour, which may contribute to the perfecting of this great national undertaking, which, though attempted by many of your royal predeceſſors, is left to be happily accompliſhed by you."

To which his Royal Highneſs was pleaſed to return the following Anſwer.

"Gentlemen,

I thank you for theſe expreſſions of duty to the King, and of regard to me.

I ſhall on all occaſions have a warm heart for any thing that promotes the welfare of the nation, and, in particular, in ſo laudable an undertaking as this is.

May we ſoon regain this branch of our trade, and may this country always maintain the dignity, power, and influence it ought to have."

Aix-la-chapelle, Sept. 10. An Engliſh ſea officer of high rank, during the ſtay that he made here, married the daughter of a perſon who keeps a famous eating houſe.

London, Auguſt 17. Ten men of war are preparing for the ſea, in order to be ſtationed in the Weſt-Indies. It is reported, that Capt. Durell, late commander of the Lancaſter man of war, will have the command of the ſaid ſquadron, and Capt. Hanbly will have the command of one of the ſhips.

Sept. 5. By a private letter from Aix-la-Chapelle, dated Auguſt 30. O.S. we have advice that Admiral Knowles, who went there to drink the waters, was married a few days before to a young woman between fourteen and fifteen years of age.

London, October 4. Yeſterday at the general court of the Foundling Hoſpital, Edward Northey and James Crokatt, Eſqrs. were elected Governors of the ſaid hoſpital; and Mr. Douglas paid a beneſaction thereto from Henry Douglas, Eſq; of Antigua; and the matron paid over the net profit ariſing from the childrens making purſes in the laſt quarter; which purſes may be bought of the matron at the ſaid hoſpital, and at no other place.

London, Oct. 20. It is apprehended the great affair of the African trade will once more fall under the cognizance of parliament in the next ſeſſions, when a ſtrict enquiry will be made into the manner in which it has been managed at home and abroad for many years paſt, and what have been the genuine cauſes of its extraordinary declenſion from what it formerly was; (towards which new and great lights it is believed will be furniſhed) and in conſequence of this inquiry, it is not doubted that proper meaſures will be diſcovered and purſued for preſerving to this nation a commerce, to which ſhe has ſo good a right, and that it is allowed to be of ſo high conſequence to the welfare of our American plantations, more eſpecially ſince not the French only, but the Spaniard have their eyes more than ever upon that neceſſary branch of traffick to them as well as us, which ought to excite the more caution, becauſe whatever miſtakes we commit, will not only prove detrimental to us, but beneficial to them, who are in many reſpects our rivals in commerce.
London, Oct. 27. It is ſaid that in the approaching ſeſſion of parliament the preſent duties on ſugar will be reduced, that we may be able to ſerve the foreign markets on eaſier terms.
There are ſeveral men of war getting ready for the ſea, ſuppoſed for the Mediterranean, to protect the trade from the inſults of the rovers in thoſe parts.
